Stand and Applaud

The last time I went to Dallas, on the way home, while waiting in the Atlanta Airport I heard people clapping. Then they started standing as some of our returning soldiers were coming down the concourse. Everyone stood up and began to applaud these men and women as they walked by, and you know me, it wasn't long before I was wiping the tears from my eyes. I was so happy for them to get the recognition that they deserved, but I couldn't help but think about those who either came back wounded or who would never walk into an airport again. They needed applause also. There are countless scores that need our recognition for the things they do. The fireman and police officers that sacrificially serve while being under paid for a thankless job. And before you know it I started thinking about others that really deserved to be applauded for what they do in the service of God.

I think the thought in 1 Peter 2:14 .....the praise of those who do good. And then in Romans 13:7 Paul writes ...honor to whom honor is due lets us know that its good and right to show praise and honor to those who have earned it and deserve it. I think the parents who teach their children about God and the Church are deserving of praise. The single mom who works hard to provide for her family and still makes sure they never miss a service or bible class deserves praise and applause. The couple at church who have been married for 50 years deserves honor. The preacher who stays true to God's Holy and Devine word needs to be commended. The leaders in the church who guide the flock in the nourishment it needs weather it's an Eldership or like we have a group of men leading as Elders, need to be praised. The Bible class teachers that study and present lessons that are not only interesting, but fulfilling a vital part of God's plan. Those who live every day for Christ need to understand how important they are to so many others. And we all need to know there will be a great day that is coming when Christ will stand and applaud all that are faithful and say those words we all want to hear, "well done thou good and faithful servant,.... enter into the joy of your Lord" Matt. 25:21
